Dr. Samuel Edward Duncan, Jr. 1904-1968

Samuel Edward Duncan, Jr., educator, humanitarian and lover of people, was born in Madisonville, Kentucky, on April 27, 1904, the oldest of seven children. In 1915, his parents, Lena Jordan and Samuel Edward Duncan, Sr., moved from Kentucky, where they had served as teacher and administrator at Atkinson College, respectively, to Sanford, North Carolina. Samuel, known to most of his associates as Sam, moved again after two years with his parents, four brothers and sister to Salisbury, where his father had accepted a position at Livingstone College, a school for Negroes including grammar grades and high school. Sam completed two years of grammar school, four years of high school and four years of college there and excelled in scholarship and athletics. A stellar baseball and football player, he earned the nickname, "Footney," and graduated in the well-known class of '27. In later years, he enjoyed playing tennis, basketball and bridge.

Upon graduating from Livingstone, he accepted a teaching position at Washington High School in Reidsville, North Carolina, where he also served as athletic coach. In May 1931, upon the death of his father who had served for many years as principal of Dunbar High School in East Spencer, North Carolina, he interrupted his studies and accepted the position left vacant by his father. He continued measures already initiated to raise the school's academic standing and introduced football as an interscholastic sport. Meanwhile, he completed the requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Educational Administration and Sociology. He was at Dunbar High School from 1931 to 1938 before being asked to return to Reidsville as supervising principal of Negro City Schools and also as principal of Washington High School, where he remained for eight years.

From this post at Reidsville in 1946, Dr. Duncan was invited to accept a position with the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction as supervisor of Negro High Schools. Although the demands of his work were great, his desire to continue his academic growth prevailed as he also pursued the doctorate in Educational Administration and Sociology and received his Ph.D. degree from Cornell University in 1949.

He was a supervisor and also a counselor to principals, and in the summer of 1952, he initiated the Tuskegee Institute Principals Southern Regional Workshops for Negroes. His success in this effort caused the University of Miami to invite him to lead the Dade County, Florida, workshops during the summer of 1955.

Under Dr. Duncan's leadership, Negro high schools in North Carolina made noticeable gains in earning Southern Association approval. He was an active member and leader in the North Carolina Teachers Association, for which he served two years as president, and encouraged educators to become involved in the professional organizations. "He was an educator's educator – the epitome of a professional," said one of his colleagues.

Despite the pressures of his time-consuming work, he still managed to participate in numerous civic, religious and educational activities. His involvement earned him many awards, citations and testimonials. He was an active layman in the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church. He held active memberships in the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc.; the National Conference of Christians and Jews; the National

Dr. Samuel Edward Duncan, Jr. 1904-1968 (continued)

Association for the Advancement of Colored People; the North Carolina State Board of Public Welfare; Southern Regional Education Board; the Livingstone College Alumni Association; the Planning Committee of Southern Foundation; and the National Commission of the Education of Negroes in the U.S. Office of Education. Dr. Duncan was also a 33rd Degree Mason.

In 1958, Livingstone College President Dr. W. J. Trent resigned because of failing health and the Board of Trustees offered the presidency to Dr. Duncan. He willingly accepted the honor and left his post with the State Department of Public Instruction. Even though it meant a reduction in salary, he did not hesitate and said, "I shall try to give back 10 years of service to Livingstone in gratitude for the ten years of educational preparation Livingstone College gave me." He accomplished this goal, serving ten years and ten days between July 1, 1958, and July 10, 1968.

Even at the moment of his death, he was preparing to sign a contract for another new building. His dreams and architectural plans for Livingstone included the renovation of four buildings and the construction of 10 new buildings and a stadium. His personal contacts through alumni, philanthropists, foundations and government assured the completion of 10 structures designed to make a first-class education available to the youth of America, Africa and elsewhere.

Although he never saw the completion of the last two buildings, he died confident that his efforts had secured an environment in which good teaching and effective learning could occur.

Dr. Duncan knew the direction he wanted for his life. He had begun his tenure at Livingstone College amid severe crisis, integration, provisional accreditation, limited resources, reduced faculty, a reduction in contributions by philanthropists and, subsequently, the loss of the college auditorium by fire. His profound belief in the goodness of humanity was once again affirmed when the Salisbury business community, within twenty-four hours, voluntarily pledged $100,000 toward replacing the auditorium.

During the 1960's when cities were plagued by burnings and disorder, Livingstone College students also felt the same rage and frustration over the denial of human rights. In anticipation of their needs, Dr. Duncan asked for a meeting of business leaders and persistently urged them to change their policies. His "Open Door" policy with students allowed him to assure leaders that Salisbury could bring about the desired change without violence. Students marched and facilities were integrated peacefully without violence. He believed in resolving problems "without incident" and with as little confrontation as possible. Perhaps he was more optimistic for the 60's than most college leaders, for he had written a paper many years before predicting the day of integration, and he had been steadily working with his own people and many organizations to make his dreams a reality.

Dr. Duncan was an unusual man with a great sense of honor and humility who "walked with kings and never lost the common touch." He was an understanding father of two adopted children and had a special way with children of all ages. He assumed the role of father figure for his younger brothers and sisters after their father's passing and always taught by example that family means loving and helping each other. He was married to the former Ida Elizabeth Hauser in 1933, with whom he lived happily for thirty-five years.

Statement of Occasion.....Justin Wade
Student Government Association Chaplain 2020-2021

Prayer.....Reverend Dr. Troy Russell
Campus Minister

Opening Hymn.....“Lift Ev’ry Voice and Sing”.....J. W. and J. R. Johnson
(Audience please stand)

I.
Lift ev’ry voice and sing
‘Til earth and heaven ring,
Ring with the harmonies of Liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise,
High as the listening skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us.
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us;
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun
Let us march on ‘til victory is won.

II.
Stony the road we trod,
Bitter the chastening rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat,
Have not our weary feet,
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears have been watered.
We have come, treading our path thro’ the blood of the slaughtered.
Out from the gloomy past, ‘til now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

III.
God of our weary years, God of our silent tears’
Thou who has brought us thus far on our way;
Thou who has by Thy might led us into the light,
Keep us forever in the path we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places our God where we met Thee;
Lest our hearts, drunk from the wine of the world, we forget Thee;
Shadowed beneath Thy hand, may we forever stand,
True to our God, true to our native land.

O! Livingstone, my Livingstone!
Thy dear old name we sing
While memories cluster thick and fast
And closer to us cling
Beneath thy maples and thy oaks
The zephyred breezes blow,
Just as they will in years to come,
No matter where we go.

O! Livingstone, my Livingstone!
When thou art old with age,
Perhaps thou, too, shalt hold a place
That's bright on mem'ry's page,
And in the sky no cloud shall be—
Instead, thy sun shall gleam
Prosperity shall live always
Amid its golden beam.

O! Livingstone, my Livingstone!
Thy students come and go,
The moments fly, the years go by
With all their weal and woe,
Along with fleet and nimble feet
Oh, hasten on the way,
And fling the light of wisdom out
Across the Wand'rer's way.

O! Livingstone, my Livingstone!
Upon the campus wide,
In numbers many students roam—
Some from the other side;
And still they love; we can but hope
That they may e'er be true
To both thy names and colors too—
The modest black and blue

Benediction.....Reverend Dr. Troy Russell

Dr. Anthony J. Davis

Dr. Anthony J. Davis is a foster care survivor who emancipated himself from the foster care system at the age of seventeen. Consistent with the writings of John Maxwell, Anthony J. Davis is described by many of his colleagues as “The Difference Maker.” Dr. Davis is a philanthropic practitioner who began his career over 27-years ago. His passion for education, community and social justice has positioned him to provide visionary strategic leadership in support of a number of colleges, universities and non-profit organizations. His work has resulted in the procurement of more than $400 million in gifts and grants, with a special emphasis on major gifts and planned giving – successfully securing donor contributions at the $10,000 to $5 million levels.

Currently, Dr. Davis serves as the Senior Vice President/Chief Operating Officer for Livingstone College, Salisbury North Carolina, one of the nation’s oldest HBCU’s. In his current role, Dr. Davis is responsible for supervising and providing leadership for the entire fundraising enterprise at Livingstone College. Dr. Davis also manages the day-to-day operations of the institution with the responsibility of providing strategic oversight in key areas on the campus in an effort to create a campus wide synergy that promotes economic growth, revenue generation and sustainability.

Prior to accepting this role, Dr. Davis served as Vice President for Development with The Consortium for Graduate Study in Management, where he managed the organization’s comprehensive development program providing leadership and strategic direction for the following focus areas: corporate philanthropy, foundation relations, individual giving, and student and alumni relations, which supported and sustained the organization’s $42 million economic model. Committed to best practices, Dr. Davis was an effective development professional who played an integral role in the growth and upward trajectory of the organization’s overall development program. His work resulted in more than 120 new corporate and non-profit partnerships, which has resulted in the total philanthropic transfer of more than $240 million in support of student scholarships for underrepresented populations.

Dr. Davis attended the Fundraising School of Indiana University – Bloomington’s Center of Philanthropy (Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis), and holds the distinction of honor graduate, Magna Cum Laude, from Livingstone College. Dr. Davis also earned a Master of Arts degree in Philanthropy and Development from St. Mary’s University in Minnesota, one of the only advanced degrees offered in this field. Dr. Davis completed his doctoral work at the United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, where he earned his Doctor of Ministry degree. One of his favorite quotes is from John Maxwell, which states, “There are many things we can accomplish together, and very few we can accomplish alone.”
